This document and its terms are considered accepted, and are legally binding on the parties, upon electronic submission to and receipt by the University of Idaho.

Both the participant and the custodial parent/guardian (“undersigned”) acknowledge that they are aware that participation in any and all 4-H Programs as well as any or all associated University of Idaho, activities, events, clinics and classes, may include activities that are risky and dangerous. These risks may arise from negligent acts or omissions of the participant, other participants, leaders, volunteers, or third parties occurring during, or otherwise associated with, the Activities. Both participant and his/her parent(s) / guardian(s) (“I”) acknowledge and accept the risks and give permission for my participation in the Activity. Undersigned acknowledge that participation in this Activity has the following non-exhaustive list of particular activities that bear risk and danger and from which bodily injury or illness to myself, or my child, up to and including death, may occur: activities involving animals, whether wild, domestic or feral; exposure to weather conditions, such as heat, cold, rain, snow, ice, hail, lightning, wind or other weather events; hazards from deserts, forests, mountains, canyons, lakes, rivers, streams, urban, suburban or rural places or other areas where the Activities occur; forces of nature or Acts of God, such as fire, earthquake, avalanche, rockfall, flood, falling trees, poisonous plants or other occurrences; recreational or educational activities, such as archery, orienteering, skiing, swimming, biking, canoeing, kayaking, fishing, hiking, camping, shooting, horseback riding, operation of, or being a passenger in, or observer of motorized vehicles, crafts, hobbies, courses, events, clinics or other activities; all of these activities may involve strenuous exertion that could place stress on cardiovascular and/or musculo-skeletal systems and result in cuts, punctures, broken bones, strains, sprains, joint injuries, eye injuries, hearing damage; heart malfunctions, concussions, and head injuries; burns; drowning; contact with other participants and objects; the use of tools, instruments, machinery, equipment or other items associated with the Activities; food, drink, lodging or travel to, during, from or otherwise related to, the Activities; receipt of emergency first aid, or other emergency treatment, and transport in medical emergencies; accident or illness in locations without access to appropriate medical facilities or supplies; exposure to infectious disease and/or illnesses; and other unknown and unanticipated activities and risks. There is a particularly heightened potential risk of such within an indoor shooting range environment, although it is still a risk in outdoor range environments. Such risk of lead exposure or contamination may still exist in such range environments where lead projectiles, bullets, or ammunition are commonly discharged from firearms even though students and other participants may be engaged in another activity, such as archery. These risks may arise from negligent acts or omissions of the participant, other participants, leaders, volunteers, or third parties occurring during, or otherwise associated with, the Activities. The undersigned acknowledge and accept these specific risks related to water activities and give permission for participation in the Activities.

In consideration of the University of Idaho ("UI") permitting the participation in Activities, the undersigned hereby voluntarily accept all risks associated with participation.
